Sector Spotlight: Construction

The Construction sector in Wisconsin is growing and shifting outside of urban areas to more rural areas since the height of Covid. This sudden shift has created new opportunities for remote work, but has also furthered the hiring shortage within this industry. Such growing pains are why construction companies are partnering with other organizations to help increase their workforce. Programs like E3 Works and the Wisconsin Youth Apprenticeship programs, among others, have helped to open doors for eligible workers to gain valuable skills needed to climb the industry ladder, as well as break into the construction world. If you or someone you know is thinking about a career in the construction industry, contact Michelle Burkhardt, E3 Works Career Planner, today!

Co-Enrollment: E3 Works and Youth Apprenticeship

Did you know you can be enrolled in a youth apprenticeship program and the E3 Works youth program too? Participants who are 14-24 and are struggling to overcome barriers to determine a career pathway that matches their interests and goals could qualify for co-enrollment in the E3 Works youth program if they are already enrolled, or wish to enroll, in the Wisconsin Youth Apprenticeship program.
